

COVID-19 MYTH BUSTING

Life Education has been developing COVID-19 specific resources that can be used by your school, for both distance learning or in the classroom. These resources are suitable for Y3 upwards, with two versions – one aimed at Y3-5 students and the other at Y6-8 students. All the information for these resources has been taken from the WHO recommendations and are in line with current research and our own government's guidelines.

Both the distance learning and class resources have been developed to be used in a variety of ways, for example as:

- ★ a one-off, stand-alone activity
- ★ a starting point for further discussion or learning (the resources enable teachers and schools to identify any areas of confusion or where there is a lack, or low level, of understanding)
- ★ a way to identify possible topics to be covered in your Health curriculum or upcoming Life Education programme, such as hygiene, taking care of our basic needs, understanding viruses and how our immune system responds, how vaccines work, body systems including the respiratory system and components of the blood, fake news tying in with choices made online, resilience, mental health and wellbeing.

If this is something which may be of interest or value to your school, please feel free to find out more on the 'Supporting Online Learning' page.
